

My career, covered briefly in my CV, has been successful, various and instructive, in electronics and IT, nationally and internationally.

I am looking for new challenges in sales, marketing, business development and product management of technology products. Not necessarily directly related to electronics and IT where I have my background. I am open for proposals in industries where my experience and skills are regarded valuable. Preferably internationally with home base in Stockholm but I am prepared to relocate to almost any place in the world for the right job.

I can also work as independent consultant through Vascaia AB (www.vascaia.se).

Swedish and English CVs and related documents are available for viewing and download on the home page under "Documents".
